

219 tongue through the bars to lick my hand. He wagged his tail. I
227 knew we had found my brother's birthday dog.

239 The staff at the shelter asked us a number of questions about 252 where we were going to keep the puppy, and required us to sign 262 paperwork guaranteeing that we would take good care of the 274 animal. We paid fees for the spaying and neutering of the puppy,
286 along with fees for the license and the tags. Altogether, the total 299 was less than seventy-five dollars, which was way less than the pet
310 store would charge. And now this animal would have a home.

322 When we got home, I took the puppy into the backyard and 336 my mom went into the house to tell Mario that she had a surprise
350 for him. I held the puppy gently as Mario came out. He was so 361 excited! He kept yelling, "Gracias! Gracias!" when he saw the dog.
372 The puppy seemed really happy, too, probably because he was not 385 in a cage anymore. Mario came closer to the puppy and slowly put 400 his hand out for the puppy to smell it. The puppy took a couple of 412 sniffs and gave him a lick. Mario smiled wider than ever, and 422 softly patted the puppy on the back of his head.
